Sonnenfeld's GREAT CLEARING SALE

$300,000 Worth of Summer Goods Must Be Closed Out Regardless of Cost!
The Greatest Slaughter in Dry Goods and Millinery Ever Known in This City!

Having this season added several new departments, and being CROWDED FOR ROOM for our Fall Stock, for which our buyers are now in the market, we have decided to close out our entire Summer Stock, AT A SACRIFICED PRICE. Below we submit a few of the many Reductions made for this week. Please bear in mind that every dollar's worth of goods to be closed out was bought within six months, and more especially our New Dry Goods, which have been added only sixty days ago.

Muslin Underwear MUST GO.

During this week we shall offer our entire stock of well-made Muslin Underwear at prices that will astonish even the most critical. No such values were ever before offered in this city, and it will pay all to purchase a year's supply. There are thousands of dozens to select from, and the following are but a few specimen bargains. (As our space for their display is limited, we have arranged them in lots, each containing several styles and different prices, for the Clearing Sale, all at one price!)

LOT 1—Comprising several styles Corset Covers, former prices from 25c to 40c; Clearing Sale Price, 15c choice at.....

LOT 2—Takes in all our Corset Covers from 50c to $1.10; Clearing Sale Price, choice at.....

Night Gowns.

LOT 4—Comprises all Night Gowns former prices 75c to $1; Clearing Sale Price, your choice at.....

LOT 5—Comprises Night Gowns from $1.25 to $1.50; Clearing Sale Price, your choice at.....

LOT 6—Includes all of our finer quality Night Gowns, former prices from $2 to $2.50; Clearing Sale Price, your choice at.....

Skirts.

LOT 7—Comprises all Skirts from 50c to 40c; Clearing Sale Price, your choice only.....

LOT 8—Comprising all Skirts from 50c to 80c; Clearing Sale Price, your choice only.....

LOT 9—Comprises all fine Skirts, former prices from $1 to $1.75; Clearing Sale Price, your choice only.....

We are overstocked in some very fine Cambric Underwear, in sets and single pieces, on which we shall make even still greater reductions than above mentioned prices.

LONDON, July 7.—The war office has ordered an inquiry into the blunders committed during the summer maneuvers at Aldershot last Friday. It seems that a disgraceful collision took place between the Lancashire and the Hussars on Fox Hills. A troop of the Eleventh Hussars tried to cover a battery of artillery which was being changed by a regiment of Lancashire. The battery crashed into the Hussars. Forty men and horses were flung to the ground and many of them severely wounded. Gen. Wood publicly censured the commander of the Hussars for putting a mere handful of men against a whole regiment of Lancashire at full gallop.

POLICEMEN THREATEN TO STRIKE. Several of the policemen attached to the district station who were suspended for refusing to go on duty because of the transfer to another district of a Bow street constable, who had taken a prominent part in the movement to improve the condition of the police, were today dismissed from the force. There is much excitement among the police over the matter and they threaten to go on a strike tonight.

WILL VISIT GERMANY AND DENMARK. The Prince of Wales will go to Hamburg for a short time about the end of August. At the beginning of September the Princess of Wales and her daughters will go to Denmark to join the family and party at Frederiksberg Castle, which will include the Emperor and Empress of Russia. The Prince of Wales and the Duke of Clarence will also pay a brief visit to Frederiksberg.

THE QUEEN AND ARTIST SWORDSMAN. The Queen has invited Herr Swoboda, the Austrian artist, and his sister, who is also an artist, to visit Windsor Castle for the purpose of painting portraits of the members of the royal family.

MR. PARKS, the editor of the North London Press, who, on January 16, was convicted of libeling the Earl of Euston in connection with the West End scandal, was today released from confinement on account of ill health.

BERLIN COURT CIRCLES DISTURBED. The Queen's birthday was celebrated in Berlin, July 7.—Court circles are greatly disturbed in consequence of the action of the Emperor's courtiers in the matter of the Duke of Saxe-Altenburg's marriage to the Duke of Saxe-Altenburg's daughter. This money seems to create ill feeling. In 1888, when the will of the Duchess was read, the Comte de Paris was furious over its provisions, which gave the bulk of an immense fortune to the German Emperor's courtiers. He had confidently expected to be principal heir, while his son-in-law, the Duke of Saxe-Altenburg, was King of Portugal, entertained similar expectations.

OFFICIALLY DENIED. The statement published in the Freisinnige Zeitung, that Emperor William, on his trip from Berlin to Kiel on the night of June 26, had an interview with Prince Bismarck at Schwabenbach, a station near Friedrichshagen, is semi-officially denied.

The Mayor probably objects to the appointment of a botanist to take charge of Shaw's Garden.

The difference between the practices and the principles of the Globe-Democrat is the exact difference between "chromos" and "no chromos."

The biggest obstruction in the way of the request of St. Louis for a census recount is Maj. WEIGEL.

The street sprinkling situation has reached a point where indignant protest is an act of good citizenship.

The Council should insist on having a civil engineer in the office of Street Commissioner if it takes an all-summer session to accomplish it.

The uneasiness with which the campaign in Pennsylvania is viewed by Republican organs everywhere is the best evidence of the wisdom of the Pennsylvania Democrats in nominating PATTERSON.

The reason that St. Louis does not now enjoy a recount at once, while Kansas City has secured the privilege, is found in Maj. WEIGEL's stubbornness and misplaced confidence in his force of incompetents.

The School Directors would make no mistake in appointing Mr. PLAYER to the position made vacant by the death of Mr. WASH. Mr. PLAYER's original fitness for the office has been confirmed by fourteen years of faithful service.

It sounds improbable, but it is becoming every day more apparent that in their fight against the tariff and election bills the Democrats are to be aided by the Secretary of State. Mr. BLAINE is a shrewd man, and he has probably discovered that it is time to have another anchor to windward.

With a Mayor who refuses to appoint a civil engineer as street commissioner, a census supervisor who refuses to take a census, a School Board which will not meet, a set of sprinkling contractors who refuse to sprinkle the streets and an ice combine which charges a cent a pound for ice, the reformer in St. Louis has his work cut out for him.

In calling on the City Counselor for an opinion as to the title to the City Hall Park the Municipal Assembly has shown that it is not in harmony with the policy of the Mayor. The policy of the Mayor is to have all technical questions settled by plain, honest citizens who shall have no technical knowledge whatever.

There is a ring in the protests of the Newfoundlanders against their treatment by Great Britain which reminds one of the Declaration of Independence. Great Britain does not care much for the few fishermen of Newfoundland, but the English cling tenaciously to territory, and the fear of incurring further unpopularity may induce the government to make a bold stroke for the purpose of retaining that patch of the Western Hemisphere.

Gov. NICHOLES of Louisiana will undoubtedly place himself on record again as unalterably opposed to the lottery inquiry by vetoing the lottery bill. But there is slight prospect that his veto will stand in the way of the success of the gambling syndicate. It has started out to buy its franchise and the veto condition was certainly counted upon and prepared for. The purchased Legislature will pass the bill over the veto and the question will go to the people of the State.

SUPERVISOR MILLER of Kansas City, when proof was submitted to him that blunders had been made by his enumerators, freely admitted the charge and in-dorsed a request for a recount in a large number of bungled districts. He did not stake his own reputation on that of the men whom he employed, and stubbornly take their prejudiced word against convincing testimony. Supervisor WEIGEL could learn wisdom from Supervisor MILLER.

A CONFESSED BLUNDER. The reasons upon which the local census enumerators base their demand for more pay for the recent blunderous census of this city places them in an extremely inconsistent position, to say the least.

The enumerators were paid 2 cents for every person enumerated, and their compensation was, therefore, entirely determined by the number of names on their lists. In the resolution asking increased compensation the enumerators declare that the labor involved in the count because of the multitude of questions on the schedules and the obstructions placed in their way by citizens and newspapers made it impossible to make fair wages. They assert that the pay was less than that of day laborers, and make it appear that many enumerators could scarcely realize their expenses from their work.

Now, it has been admitted that the estimate of population by which the number of St. Louis enumerators was determined was low, and the fear has frequently been expressed that some districts could not be covered by the enumerators. But the greater the number of people in each district the greater the compensation of each enumerator if his work were thoroughly done. If the labor of census taking was too great to make fair wages it was too great to admit of accurate returns.

The claim of the enumerators that they took the names of all citizens is utterly inconsistent with the demand for more money and their assertions with reference to the laboriousness and difficulty of the work. They practically confess by their attitude that their work was incomplete and inaccurate and that a recount is imperative for St. Louis.

A New York paper offers for public inspection a list of 93 foreign steamers, 45 Norwegian, 43 British, 2 German, 1 Spanish and 1 Russian, all employed by American merchants during the months of May and June in their trade between our ports and those of the West Indies and Central and South America. Instead of making the triangular voyages Mr. BLAINE speaks of, they are all making direct trips to and fro between ours and other American ports. And without asking for any Government subsidy our merchants have recently engaged six more Norwegian steamers to engage in the same trade. It is not the want of subsidies, it is adverse legislation that compels our merchants to buy or employ foreign built ships instead of home built ones, and sail them under a foreign flag.

ROSA BONHEUR, if not the greatest of living animal painters, is certainly the first of her sex in that department of art, and in selecting her works as the subject of chromos to be given away with a year's subscription to the weekly Globe-Democrat the proprietors of that successful publication have shown that they know how to meet the popular demand for a class of art which is cheap yet elevating. They should, however, compel their editor to have the editor in his sanctum far above all worldly cares declaiming against chromos as pernicious and unworthy of a true newspaper, while down stairs the shrewd business management is distributing art broadcast over the country and reaping the rich rewards of a judicious cultivation of the chromo.

THOMAS STEVENS, who is now in Russia representing the world, proposes to ride on horseback from Moscow to the Crimea and tell all about the characteristics and conditions of the Russian people. From what Mr. STEVENS has written of his observations in St. Petersburg a great deal of sympathy seems to have been wasted on the Russians, as the masses of them seem to be ignorant of the fact that they are suffering outrageous oppression. In fact, Mr. STEVENS finds most of them happy, contented and devoted to the Czar. This appears to be a contradiction of KENNAN's picture of Russian despotism, but then Mr. STEVENS has not gone into underground Russia among the discontented, and the people he has met are content with the government because they do not know what freedom is.

Maj. WEIGEL has admitted several times that the compensation allowed census enumerators was not sufficient to command the services of the best men or to stimulate the men employed to their best efforts. He has also magnified the difficulties which lie in the way of getting an accurate count. Now that the count has been made, however, he indorses blindly the work of all of his enumerators, good or bad, and asserts positively that the census of this city has been taken accurately. The Supervisor is both foolish and inconsistent.

TURKEY, which is always the center of European disturbance, is giving more than usual promise of war at present. The Montenegrins are fighting, most of the Balkan States are restive and Russia is pressing hard for her Turkish indemnity, with little chance of getting it except by fighting for it. Altogether the situation is not pleasant for European lovers of peace, because when the train of war is once started there is no telling where it will stop. It will take fine generalship to keep it confined to Turkish territory.

Our of delicate consideration for the editor of our esteemed contemporary whose sense of propriety doubtless deters him from making editorial mention of the fact, we take pleasure in announcing that every subscriber of the weekly Globe-Democrat will receive, without additional cost to the annual subscription, an engraving which is described as a beautiful companion piece to the engraving "which was, until recently, the premium with the weekly Globe-Democrat."

Read and the Presidency. From the New York World. The Lodge force-and-fraud bill is becoming increasingly embarrassing to its friends. The Republican Senators want to pass it in the interest of their party, but they understand quite as well as Speaker Reed does that its passage will greatly help to gentlemen's presidential chances. The leading Republican Senators have no burning desire to improve the bill, but they are anxious to get it out of their hands. Reed is no less embarrassed than they. In his own interest he must vote for the passage of the bill by the Senate, while he has reason to fear that his endeavor because they are his may have a deterrent rather than an encouraging effect on special dispatches this morning report that he is keeping himself as inconspicuous and as much in the background as possible in the matter. The spectacle of Speaker Reed effacing himself is one of the most interesting imaginable.

VERY COSTLY WHIMS.

SALE OF TREASURES BOUGHT AND COLLECTED BY A MILLIONAIRE'S WIFE.

Public Curiosity to see the contents of Philo Curtis' beautiful residence in Utica, N. Y.—Expensive Furniture Made to Order for Mrs. Curtis—A $50,000 Bedroom Set—Mildly Low Prices.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch. UTICA, N. Y., July 7.—For the past few days there has been an auction and private sale of the contents of the house of Philo Curtis, on Upper Genesee street, this city, that has attracted the attention of all classes of people here and from the adjacent towns. The house is situated about one hundred feet back from the street in the middle of a beautifully kept lawn. The house is probably 300 feet long and 1,000 deep. For years there has been the greatest curiosity regarding the house and its contents. Philo Curtis is a well-known manufacturer of this city and one of the wealthiest of its citizens, but it is a matter of common talk that he has taken every little comfort in the house that is being stripped of its many and varied contents. But the house has had one contented occupant in the person of Mrs. Curtis, and the furnishing of the rooms was done in accordance with the views of the lady. The house is a masterpiece of the architect's art, and the furniture is a masterpiece of the upholsterer's art. The house is a masterpiece of the architect's art, and the furniture is a masterpiece of the upholsterer's art. INSPECTING THE LINES.

PRESIDENT A. MANVELL OF THE ATCHISON EXAMINES THE 'FRISCO.

Announced to Be in Excellent Condition—A Rumor Denied—No Change of Central Offices Probable—What Joplin Expects From Atchison Stockholders.

T 7:30 this morning A. Manvell of Chicago, President of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, arrived in the city and registered at the Sonoma. Mr. Manvell spent the day at the "Frisco" offices, examining the books and conferring with the officials of the road. "I have just made a tour of inspection of the 'Frisco' line, and I am very much pleased with the condition of the road," he said. "The lines are in excellent condition."

"I found both roads in admirable condition and was more than satisfied with the results of my journey. Both the old Frisco and Atchison are in first-class condition and we challenge comparison with any of the lines in the West. We intend making the roads as good in every respect as they can be, and will spare no efforts to attain this end."

"What truth there is in the report that the Atchison has given a Minneapolis commission for rates on grain wheat grown on the line of the Atchison?"

"There is nothing in the story whatever. There is little of the Kansas wheat that the Minneapolis men want, and very little indeed on our line. The St. Louis men need not be afraid that the Atchison will not treat this wheat as it should."

"Is there any probability of the officers of the Atchison being transferred to this city?"

"The matter has not even been brought up. There is no immediate likelihood of anything of the kind being done."

THE ATCHISON AND JOPLIN. S. P. Edwards of Joplin, Mo., arrived in the city last night and called on President Manvell this morning. "Mr. Manvell, with some of the officials of the Frisco, was at Joplin last week," said Mr. Edwards, "and spent a day in examining the mines and the means of getting them out. They were in excellent condition, and I am sure that the Atchison will be able to handle them as well as the Frisco."

"The Atchison is in a position to handle the mines as well as the Frisco, and I am sure that the Atchison will be able to handle them as well as the Frisco."

TWO PLUCKY WOMEN.

With Ax and Pitchfork They Attack and Kill a Bear.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.
VANCEBORO, Me., July 7.—Roderick McDonald, who lives in one of the remote parts of a settlement at Moins River, a provincial town, was absent from home a few nights ago, having left his wife and sister as the sole defenders of his household. Just at dusk the two women, who were busy about their household duties, were suddenly attacked by a ferocious bear, which came into the barn yard. Without the slightest hesitation the women armed themselves with the axes and pitchforks on hand, and a pitched battle followed. The bear, which was a large animal, rushed at the women with a roar of mingled rage and pain followed and with a sweep of his paw he struck the women on the hands. The other woman struck at the bear with the ax, disabling one of his forward legs. Mrs. McDonald ran to the pitchfork, recovered it and the two plucky women then went at the bear with the pitchfork. McDonald would not have been in the front while her companion did the deed, as the women had their clothes badly torn, but beyond a few scratches and the fright, suffered no injury.

POWDERLY'S ADDRESS.

He Attacks the Declaration of Independence, Franks and M. N. Quay.

SCRANTON, Pa., July 7.—Grand Master William T. V. of the Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, held a convention here and took for his text the Declaration of Independence, which he read passage by passage and in the end declared to be a living lie. He said that the consent of the governed, which our forefathers demanded was not asked for to-day. Conventions nominated candidates, who were whipped into party lines, and if they did not like the candidate they were told that they ought to have come to the primaries. He advocated woman's suffrage and said he wanted to see such ballot reform that every man and woman could vote as they wished and have their votes counted. He asked which was worse, August Spies, who was executed for being an anarchist, or the boss who prevents the people from voting as they wish. He said that the people would be the interest of the people—such men as M. S. Quay and Wm. A. Wallace, Alfred Parsons, William J. Bryan, and M. N. Quay are identical. He attacked trusts bitterly, and speaking of the coal lands in this way he said he did not want to see vested rights disturbed, but the day was when the State would open those coal lands.

Brutally Murdered.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.
BANGOR, Me., July 7.—Now has just reached here of a murder which was committed the latter part of last week at St. Leonard's in Madawaskan County, about five miles from the town of Grand Falls. A man named John Desrosiers, about 55 years old, was found dead on the road near his own house at an early hour in the morning. His head was crushed almost to a pulp, the murderer having struck him with a large sharp stone on the cheek. The cheek bone was crushed in and the eye protruded. The murderer next, with a large flat iron, which weighed about fifty pounds, crashed in the back part of the man's head. So far no arrest has been made, but suspicion points to a man with whom the deceased had some words. An inquest was held before Coroner Akery and a verdict of wilful murder was returned against some person unknown to the jurors.

CAL MCCARTHY WILLING.

THE BANTAM CHAMPION WILLING TO FIGHT DIXON BEFORE THE PELICANS.

He is Overjoyed at the Opportunity—Ramsey's Removal from the Box Creates a Scene at Sportsman's Park—St. Louis Will Be the Scene of a Great Fight of the Pelicans.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 7.—Cal McCarthy, the undefeated 144-pound pugilist, was one of the happiest young men in Jersey City yesterday when he learned that the Pelican Club had offered a purse of $5,000 for a fight between himself and Geo. Dixon, the colored native hero, whose recent victory over "Nuncie" Wallace, England's champion, is still being talked about.

"Will I fight him?" said McCarthy last night, repeating a query. Well, you can with safety bet 100 to 1 that I will. I shall cable the Pelicans to-morrow, and as soon as they send me along the $500 guaranteed me for expenses, why, I'll sail away on the first ship, and I'll be in Jersey City in time to see the fight. I almost ruined when I fought Dixon in Boston, and I have been taking good, healthy exercise every day for a month. I have always believed myself capable of whipping Dixon, and I will not make so many mistakes this time as I did before. From the time they were matched I believed Dixon would lick Wallace, and I won about $400 on the fight. There is no doubt that George is a clever fighter, but he is inclined to use his elbows too much, and he won't have any of that sort of thing when we meet at the Pelican. I do wish, though," continued McCarthy, "that they could have skin glove fights over there, for I much prefer them to pillows in a flesh fight. However, if four-cushion mittens suit George, why, I suppose they'll have suit me."

McCarthy added that he would go to Jersey and fight Dixon on July 22, 1890, at Sportsman's Park, St. Louis. McCarthy's backer, Tom O'Rourke, Dixon's backer, Jack McManis and Tommy Collins will accompany him.

Gloomy Outlook for Fighters.
These gloomy days for the ring, writes Macon in the Cincinnati Enquirer, and optimistic indeed are the eyes of the hopeful man who can detect a silver lining to its cloud. Overcast skies. But two months ago San Francisco was the Mecca of the brawling and the famous industry of the town. Today it is worth a man's salary and the state of affairs ends all thought of a meeting between McCarthy and Dixon. The Pelican Club, like a moth to a flame, are speedily making its dust from the ground. The sight of a pugilist not native there and to the manner born will be a rare sight. Parian Athletic Club.
The Parian Club, now that it is in the hands of competent business men, bids fair to become the most successful institution of its kind this side of the Rockies, and New Yorkers who enjoy seeing scientific glove fights, such as the one between McCarthy and Dixon, will find the Parian Athletic Club a most desirable place to visit. The club is now in the hands of competent business men, and it is their intention to remodel the building in Greenpoint, occupied at present by the Parian Athletic Club, into a most desirable place to visit. Tuff Wall Won't Come.
There is hardly a possibility that Tuff Wall will be induced to leave Old England and come here to fight Jack Dempsey, as is proposed, says Macon. His horror of the sea, I am told, increases daily, and every time he hears of a maritime disaster he exclaims with glee: "What a bloody lucky thing for me it is that I was on her, a day or two ago, when she was wrecked." Tuff Wall won't come.

A true picture of the new home of one of the most successful racing organizations in the country. When Mr. John W. Morris built his magnificent course at Morris Park, in Westchester County, people marveled at the size and the lavish manner in which money had been spent, but Monmouth Park's new home overshadows and dwarfs Mr. Morris' efforts in every particular.

About a year ago Mr. David Dunham Withers broached the subject of building a new track to his fellow stockholders, and without any preliminary flourish he presented a plan for a new track, and before the conclusion of the regular race meeting on the old course ground was broken and the new track was under way. The new track is a straightaway course of one mile and three-quarters, and is a most desirable one for the start in life. There was a scene at Sportsman's Park yesterday afternoon. Ramsey had reached first base in the second inning on an error of O'Brien and by Capt. Campau's orders attempted to steal second and was easily caught by the second baseman. Ramsey was out in the second inning on an error of O'Brien and by Capt. Yesterday's Games.
The Browns won another game from Brooklyn at Sportsman's Park yesterday, the score standing 7 to 2. Ramsey, who was pitching, was removed in the second inning on account of a sore arm. He was replaced by Capt. Campau, who pitched the remainder of the game.

The Syracuse Series.
This evening the Syracuse team will arrive here from Toledo, where they have captured four straight games. To-morrow they will meet the Browns in the first of a series of four games at Sportsman's Park. The Syracuse team has taken on a spurt and is playing better ball than any of the Eastern clubs of the Association.

The Championship Race.
The championship race of the season will be run at Morris Park, N. Y., on July 10. It will be a straightaway race of one mile and three-quarters, and will be contested between the champion of the season and the champion of the year.

Base Ball Briefs.
Higgins played a great game at second yesterday. Ramsey and Campau are well up among the home run hitters. The former leads the procession.

Continuing, recently released by the Browns, will leave his home in Fredericktown, Pa., this evening.

President Von der Ahe is after the best in the International League.

Eleven straight victories will be the Browns' record since they came to the East, if they are given the Brooklyn forfeited game.

The American Association holds a special meeting at Louisville to-day to settle the various disputed games between clubs.

Frank Fennelly has been released by Brooklyn, and Jim Davis, the St. Louis ball cozier, aligned to cover the base for the team.

Keefe, the Syracuse twirler, who will pitch against the Browns to-morrow, is an enigma and the odds are against him. Yet he has had one curve ball and no speed.

It is said that Doctor, Ill., has been offered the place of Indiana in the Interstate League. The Doctor, it is believed,
